Knowledge and Rural Development

Dialogue at the heart of innovation

- Gives a pragmatic contribution to the implementation of sustainable solutions for rural development in Africa
- Include analytical description of twenty selected cases studies on multi stakeholder approaches in Africa and Brazil
- Special chapters on new development models and innovative partnerships for research and innovation

Successive food, economic and environmental crises have prompted the world Agricultural Research for Development (ARD) bodies to spring into action. Faced with the clear failure of public development aid to reduce inequalities and hunger, especially in Africa, wide consensus has been achieved from the World Bank to the G8 via the UN, the European Union and the African Union these past five years on the need to improve agricultural production through sustainable rural development which shows respect for Man and Nature. The ARD has set itself the goal of supporting the implementation of technical, social and institutional responses to sustainable development through a partnership encouraging the pooling of knowledge, increased skills and the autonomy of key players.
