Interpretations of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea by International Courts and Tribunals

- Covers major developments in the interpretation of the United Nations Conventions on the Law of the Sea on the part of several international courts and tribunals
- Offers careful and critical analyses of pertinent case law
- Written by leading experts in the fields of international law of the sea and settlement of international disputes
- Includes four chapters in French
- Great value to all academics, judges, practitioners and students interested in the impact and relevance of UNCLOS for the International Law of the Sea

This book addresses current developments concerning the interpretation of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) on the part of international courts and tribunals. It does so from different perspectives, by focusing on the jurisprudence of international and regional bodies, such as the International Court of Justice (ICJ), the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea (ITLOS), the European Court of Justice (ECJ) and the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR), as well as international arbitral tribunals and the World Trade Organization (WTO) Dispute Settlement Body.
