Political Science and International Relations : African Politics

Johnstone, Lyn (Ed.)

The Politics of Conducting Research in Africa

Ethical and Emotional Challenges in the Field

- Sheds new light on difficulties in accurate field research in Africa
- Explores different situations facing researchers in collecting data
- Recounts new, exploratory questions regarding how to gather data, what data to gather, and how identity plays a part

This edited volume investigates the ethical and emotional challenges of conducting fieldwork in Africa. It reflects on difficulties researchers face such as objectivity, access, gender issues and information risks. Focusing across a wide range of states and themes, the project makes an original contribution and builds upon existing strengths and insights in various disciplines by presenting research-practical insights from contemporary cases of fieldwork. As such, the book is an accessible and useful guide for students and scholars alike.
