Generation Z

Zombies, Popular Culture and Educating Youth

Series: Cultural Studies and Transdisciplinarity in Education

- Considers education and schooling at a time of zombie processes and categories related to marketization, corporatization and mediatisation
- Explores the figure of the zombie as a catalyst for critical accounts of curriculum and pedagogy
- Provides a lively canvas for the critical examination of many of the pedagogic and institutional practices in contemporary schooling

This book argues that the mythic figure of the zombie, so prevalent and powerful in contemporary culture, provides the opportunity to explore certain social models – such as ‘childhood’ and ‘school’, ‘class’ and ‘family’ – that so deeply underpin educational policy and practice as to be rendered invisible. It brings together authors from a range of disciplines to use contemporary zombie typologies – slave, undead, contagion – to examine the responsiveness of everyday practices of schooling such as literacy, curriculum and pedagogy to the new contexts in which children and young people develop their identities, attitudes to learning, and engage with the many publics that make up their everyday worlds.
